Rutgers Center for Organizational Leadership Development Portfolio

Founded in 1993, the Rutgers Center for Organizational Leadership is a national leader and resource for Rutgers University and the higher education community. Reporting to the Senior Vice President for University Strategy, and in collaboration with the Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs, the Center provides a portfolio of programs and services for current and aspiring leaders with academic responsibilities seeking to develop and enhance their leadership, communication, and organizational competencies.

As a hub for academic leadership development, consultation, and research, our signature offerings aim to improve individual and collective leadership capacity, support university strategy initiatives, and cultivate a culture of leadership development across the institution.

<td>Founded in 2015, the Rutgers Leadership Academy (RLA) is a one-year program (formerly a two-year program) for mid-career faculty and staff who aspire to broadened leadership roles within their units, the university, and/or higher education, more generally. The RLA focuses on the development of cross-cutting leadership concepts, competencies, and tools to enhance the professional capabilities for those in academic, professional, and administrative leadership roles. The program also addresses the unique situation- and position-specific organizational and leadership challenges that these leaders may encounter.</td>
<td>Founded in 2018, the Academic Leadership Program at RBHS (ALP-RBHS) provides a venue for faculty administrators (e.g., chairs, program directors) to examine and further develop their leadership, management, and organizational competencies with attention to current biomedical and health sciences challenges and opportunities at the national and state level, and within Rutgers and RBHS. Developed in collaboration with RBHS leaders, faculty, and staff, this one-year program delivers a blend of concepts, best practices, methods, and tools to enhance participants' leadership competencies and ability to advance their individual units and RBHS more broadly.</td>
<td>Founded in 2016, the Distinction in Leadership in Academic Healthcare (DILAH) program is offered by the Robert Wood Johnson School of Medicine in collaboration with the Rutgers Center for Organizational Leadership. Medical school students who participate in this ten-session program will have the opportunity to consider the complexities of academic health and will develop leadership skills through a field experience and a capstone project.</td>
